

The White Jacket

Envy, gluttony, greed, lust, pride, sloth and wrath, the Seven Deadly Sins. As much as we try to be good human beings, our weaknesses spill. In this series of photographs, I am inviting the worst of our personalities to express themselves, the devil whispering in their ears, how we might act if no one was watching, if we were allowed to do whatever we wanted to, just for a little while. In this series, everyone has permission.